help the homeless

Gaps in Support

In spite of the many worthy agencies serving the homeless in the Mat-Su Valley, there are glaring gaps in the coverage. There are very few emergency beds available. Many of those in need do not "fit" in the service areas available to assist them.

How it began

A Facebook post about a homeless person started a flood of offers to help. These volunteers began Wasilla Homeless-Committee. In the 2+ years since our inception WHC has helped over 600 clients.

Needs

There are homeless who cannot access food banks because of lack of transportation, either personal or public. The need for a mobile kitchen to bring hot meals and food to the camps is obvious.

For the Future

Hope Village

A community of tiny homes build in three phases First providing emergency housing for individuals and families with progression to more stable housing. Our community center would offer showers, laundry, community dining, recreation, and most importantly offering classes in financial management, job skills training, parenting and substance abuse counseling.

Why We Do This

We are our brother's keeper. Many are just one paycheck away from homelessness themselves.

There are over 1,200 homeless individuals in the Mat-Su Valley, including 800 school age children.

Everyone, no matter how they ended up homeless, deserves to be treated with compassion.

How You Can Help

- Funds to build HOPE VILLAGE a community of tiny homes, providing emergency housing for individuals and families that can progress to a transitional housing model offering classes in financial management, job skills, parenting, and substance abuse. The third phase is low cost housing for those in need.
- Funds to help provide for immediate needs of the homeless such as food, heating fuel, medical care, clothing, camping equipment, campground rental fees and many other necessities.
- Funds to provide fuel, insurance and maintenance costs of our van we use to pick up goods donated by our generous community, and to deliver household goods to recently rehomed clients.
- Funds to help provide clients with transportation to medical care, the job center and other needed transportation.
