What is the financial obligation for an applicant participating in the Weatherization Program?

The Weatherization Program is supported by both state and federal funds, so there are no financial commitments required from the applicant.

If I am deemed eligible for Weatherization assistance, will it cover the replacement of my doors and windows?

The primary focus of the Weatherization Program is on upgrades that provide the most significant energy savings and are cost-effective. Usually, this doesn't include the replacement of windows and doors as they often don't meet the cost-effectiveness criteria. Common procedures involve air-sealing, insulation, heating system modifications, and ventilation issues remediation. The assessor, who will conduct a thorough evaluation of your home, will ultimately decide on the improvements that can be implemented under this program.

Can the Weatherization Program be applied to rental properties, condominiums, and mobile homes?

Indeed, the Weatherization program is accessible not only to homeowners but also to tenants, and those living in condos and mobile homes. However, the program requires the consent of the landlord in case of rental units. Please note that there are some exceptions to eligibility, such as buses, recreational vehicles, fishing or pleasure boats, tents, yurts, and other temporary dwellings. Additionally, if a home is used for business purposes more than 25% of the time, it may not qualify. There may be other restrictions as well. If you have questions or are unsure about your home's eligibility, please reach out to Alaska CDC for further assistance.
